DEALERSHIP INFORMATIONAL ADVISORY COVID-19 Updates #48

ANNOUNCED FEDERAL VACCINATION MANDATE

Last night, President Joe Biden announced plans to require tens of millions of American workers to get vaccinated against the coronavirus.

What it Means for Dealers

Biden instructed the Department of Labor to draft a rule mandating that all businesses with 100 or more workers require their employees to either get vaccinated or face weekly testing. The White House estimates that the policy will affect about 80 million workers, or two-thirds of the country's workforce. Businesses that ignore the mandate could face up to $14,000 per violation.

The new rule will be enforced by the Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), which will issue an Emergency Temporary Standard (ETS) to implement this requirement. As of today, it is unclear when the requirements will take effect. OSHA is expected to issue the rule "in the coming weeks," according to the White House.

Additionally, the President signed an Executive Order directing all contractors that do business with the federal government require their employees be vaccinated. The order outlines what should be implemented and how over the next month with guidance by September 24 that will further explain the requirements and any exceptions.

What is the Timeframe

The implementation of these mandates will depend upon the rule making process, and at this time there is not a clear timeframe.
